UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,	)
Plaintiff,	)	3:06-CR-00144-LRH-WGC
v.	)
	)	AMENDED ORDER
NICHOLAS FRANCO-FLORES,	)
Defendant.	)

This order amends the court’s December 20, 2011 order (#59) by correcting a typographical error on page 2, at line 2. The word “maximum” should have been “minimum”.

Before the court are Defendant Nicholas Franco-Flores’ motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 to vacate, set aside, or correct his sentence (#52). Pursuant to this court’s order (#54), the United States filed an opposition (#56). Also before the court is Defendant’s request for disclosure of all records and transcripts in his case pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a(d)(1) (#57).

I. Procedural History

On September 26, 2006, the grand jury for the District of Nevada returned an indictment charging Defendant with two counts of being an Illegal Alien in Possession of a Firearm, 18 U.S.C. §§ 922(g)(5) and 924(a)(2) (“Counts 1 and 2”); two counts of Distribution of a Controlled Substance - Methamphetamine, 21 U.S.C. § 841(a)(1) (“Counts 3 and 4”); and one count seeking

1 forfeiture of the firearms under 18 U.S.C. §§ 922(g)(1) and 924(d) (“Count 5”). Pursuant to a plea
2 agreement, on October 9, 2007, Defendant pled guilty to Counts 1 and 4. Counts 2 and 3 were
3 dismissed, and the firearms were forfeited. On February 19, 2008, this court sentenced Defendant
4 to 120 months imprisonment (the statutory minimum for the drug charge), plus five years of 5 supervised release.

6 On appeal, Defendant challenged this court’s addition of two criminal history points and 7 determination that Defendant was ineligible for safety valve relief from the statutory minimum. On 8 March 9, 2009, the court of appeals affirmed, finding no error in this court’s application of the 9 Sentencing Guidelines. On October 5, 2009, the Supreme Court denied Defendant’s petition for a
10 writ of certiorari. On September 27, 2010, Defendant timely filed the instant motion under 28
11 U.S.C. § 2255 to vacate, set aside, or correct his sentence.

12 II. Motion to Vacate

13 Pursuant to § 2255, a prisoner may move the court to vacate, set aside, or correct a sentence
14 “upon the ground that the sentence was imposed in violation of the Constitution or laws of the 15 United States, or that the court was without jurisdiction to impose such sentence, or that the 16 sentence was in excess of the maximum authorized by law, or is otherwise subject to collateral
17 attack.” 28 U.S.C. § 2255(a). The prisoner is entitled to a hearing “[u]nless the motion and the 18 files and records of the case conclusively show that the prisoner is entitled to no relief.”

19 Id. § 2255(b).

20 A. Sentencing Calculations

21 Defendant claims this court erred at sentencing by adding two criminal history points under 22 U.S.S.G. § 4A1.1(d) and by rejecting his request for safety-valve relief. But these same issues were 23 already raised and disposed of on direct appeal in United States v. Franco-Flores, 558 F.3d 978
24 (9th Cir. 2009). “When a defendant has raised a claim and has been given a full and fair
25 opportunity to litigate it on direct appeal, that claim may not be used as a basis for a subsequent 26

1 § 2255 petition. United States v. Hayes, 231 F.3d 1132, 1139 (9th Cir. 2000). Defendant’s motion
2 will therefore be denied as to Ground 3.

3 B. Booker Error

4 Defendant also claims that this court imposed an unconstitutional sentence by treating the 5 Sentencing Guidelines as mandatory, in violation of United States v. Booker, 543 U.S. 220 (2005),
6 which made the Guidelines discretionary. This claim is procedurally barred, however, as 7 Defendant could have raised the issue on direct appeal and failed to do so, and Defendant has failed
8 to show cause or prejudice to excuse the procedural default. See United States v. Johnson, 988
9 F.2d 941, 945 (9th Cir. 1993). Furthermore, Defendant’s claim is without merit. While this court
10 indeed imposed sentence pursuant to a mandatory minimum, that minimum is mandated by statute,
11 not the Sentencing Guidelines, and “Booker did not affect the imposition of statutory minimums.”
12 United States v. Hernandez-Castro, 473 F.3d 1004, 1007 (9th Cir. 2007). Defendant’s motion will 13 therefore be denied as to Ground 4.

14 C. Ineffective Assistance of Counsel

15 To prevail on a Sixth Amendment claim of ineffective assistance of counsel, a defendant
16 must show both deficient performance and prejudice. Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 687
17 (1984). To establish deficient performance, the defendant must show that “counsel’s representation
18 fell below an objective standard of reasonableness.” Id. at 688. “Even under de novo review, the 19 standard for judging counsel’s representation is a most deferential one.” Harrington v. Richter, 131
20 S. Ct. 770, 788 (2011). “A court considering a claim of ineffective assistance must apply a ‘strong
21 presumption’ that counsel’s representation was within the ‘wide range’ of reasonable professional
22 assistance. The challenger’s burden is to show ‘that counsel made errors so serious that counsel
23 was not functioning as the “counsel” guaranteed the defendant by the Sixth Amendment.’” Richter, 24 131 S. Ct. at 787 (quoting Strickland, 466 U.S. at 687, 689). “The question is whether an 25 attorney’s representation amounted to incompetence under ‘prevailing professional norms,’ not
26

1 whether it deviated from best practices or most common custom.” Id. at 788 (quoting Strickland,
2 466 U.S. at 690).

3 Defendant claims his counsel’s representation was deficient in several respects, including:
4 (1) counsel failed to inform him that “by pleading guilty he was giving up (waived) many of his
5 rights”; (2) he was dissatisfied with counsel; (3) counsel “forced him to plead Guilty” when he was 6 not ready to do so and did not understand the consequences of the plea; (4) counsel failed to inform 7 him that he “could face [a] lot of time in prison” by pleading guilty and “was never informed that
8 he could face a tough sentence,” leaving him “not properly and adequately informed of the true 9 risks of accepting the government’s proposed plea offer”; (6) counsel failed to investigate and 10 present witnesses; and (7) counsel failed to advise him of the risks and benefits of testifying and 11 that the decision was entirely his.

12 The court finds Defendant’s allegations unsupported by any evidence and belied by the 13 record. At the change-of-plea hearing on October 9, 2007, Defendant acknowledged under oath 14 during the court’s canvas: (1) he understood “that by pleading guilty to these two charges that [he 15 would] be giving up many important legal rights,” which were then specifically listed by the court
16 and acknowledged by the Defendant; (2) counsel “fully informed [him] concerning the charges
17 against [him], the government’s case against [him], and the proposed guilty pleas to the two 18 charges in question,” counsel had “been able to fully answer all of the questions [he] may have 19 had,” and he was “fully satisfied with [counsel’s] representation of [him]”; (3) no one had 20 “threatened [him] in order to get [him] to enter a plea of guilty” or was “forcing [him] in any way
21 to enter a plea of guilty,” and he “freely and voluntarily enter[ed] into that agreement with the 22 government”; and (4) with respect to the drug charge, he understood “that it is possible that the 23 Court could send [him] to prison for a term as long as life in prison,” that “the law requires that 24 [he] serve a minimum of ten years in prison,” that “the safety valve, even if it’s available to [him] is 25 still completely up to the Court whether to give [him] the benefit of it or not” and “it is quite 26

1 possible that the Court would give [him] a mandatory minimum sentence of no less than ten years
2 for the [drug] offense to which [he was] charged,” and that “regardless of what [his] plea agreement
3 provides and what the attorneys argue, request, or recommend, that it is completely up to the Court
4 to decide what sentence [he] will receive.” As to Defendant’s allegations regarding counsel’s
5 failure to investigate, present witnesses and advise him of the risks and benefits of testifying,
6 Defendant presents no evidence to support such conclusory allegations.

7 Moreover, even if the performance of counsel were somehow deficient, Defendant has 8 failed to show prejudice, as he makes no argument that the result of the proceedings would have 9 been different absent the alleged errors.

10 Defendant’s motion will therefore be denied as to Grounds 1 and 2.

11 III. Request for Records

12 After filing his § 2255 motion, Defendant also filed a request under the Freedom of 13 Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a(d)(1), for disclosure of all records related to the above captioned
14 case and a copy of the transcripts (#57). The Freedom of Information Act is inapplicable here,
15 however, as the courts of the United States are not an “agency” subject to the Act. See 5 U.S.C.
16 § 551(1)(B). To the extent Defendant’s motion may be construed instead as a request for case
17 materials to assist in prosecuting his § 2255 motion, the request shall be denied as moot.

18 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendant’s motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 to vacate,
19 set aside, or correct his sentence (#52) is DENIED.

20 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendant’s request for disclosure of records and 21 transcripts (#57) is DENIED.

22 IT IS SO ORDERED.

23 DATED this 20th day of December, 2011.
